The Michigan State University College Democrats have announced their endorsement of Curtis Hertel Jr. for the 23rd State Senate seat this week. While attending Michigan State University, Hertel was an active member of the university's College Democrats, and also served as their President.

"We are excited about announcing the endorsement of the Michigan State University College Democrats," Hertel said. "This is a special group, one that has been a big part of my life since my college days. These young adults, and their education, will shape the future of our state. They are a big reason that I am running for higher office, and this endorsement is an important reflection of the values that I stand for."

Rawley Van Fossen, President, Michigan State University College Democrats, said, "The MSU College Democrats are proud to announce our endorsement of Curtis Hertel Jr. for the 23rd District of the Michigan Senate. A Spartan alum and former MSU College Democrat, Curtis has proven to be one of our community's greatest leaders. With nearly 300,000 college students in Michigan, Curtis understands the importance of restoring investment in higher education and tackling rising tuition costs. Lansing desperately needs experienced and committed leaders who will fight for Michigan's success. We have full confidence in Curtis as our next State Senator."

Curtis Hertel Jr. is currently the Register of Deeds for Ingham County. He was elected in 2008, won re-election in 2012, and recently announced his candidacy for the 23rd district of Michigan's Senate.
